NEWS & EVENTS

Note from the Manager, Scott Neal:

This year has definitely been an interesting one for the golf world. For more than 80 years, we began each spring eagerly awaiting the Masters Tournament as the unofficial start of the season! Now, as I am writing this, the Masters is getting ready to begin - in November. Many things may look different this year, no roar of the crowds packed along the fairways, no large ceremony to award the coveted green jacket - but you can still feel the love of the game of golf. We are grateful for our current players and those who have recently taken up golf, looking for a new activity during the pandemic. As the weather draws cooler, remember you can still get out on the course and enjoy a round! Look below at our winter rates!

Golf Pro Tip

Golf Professional Tip of the Month: When setting up your Putting Stance you should feel the majority of your weight towards your heels. If you want to test this, you should be able to lift up your toes without lifting your heels off the ground.

New rental clubs should be arriving soon. Of course, with most shipping right now due to COVID, we aren't sure of the exact arrival date, but hope it will be this month!

Unfortunately, some of the golf carts are losing their charge and breaking down during your round because of battery issues. We are actively working towards a resolution regarding this. Please be sure to have the Pro Shop number on hand (804) 734-2899 and we will send someone out right away with a new cart.

Maintenance Update from the Superintendent, Billy Edwards

We currently have three types of areas on the course. Wet, very wet, and if I drive here I'll probably get stuck wet. Soils are saturated at this point and having a difficult time drying. The prolonged period of high dew points, no wind, and semi dormant grass are not allowing much drying to take place. The fortunate part has been higher temperatures lately. They have allowed a bit of an extended growing season and that is a great thing. The maintenance team is will be focusing on leaf removal for the duration of the fall season. Fall color has been spectacular on the course, but now comes the aftermath. Hopefully the sounds of roaring john deere engines and turbine blowers get you as excited as it does our staff. It means Thanksgiving is close! Our warm season grasses are semi dormant now. We have begun our pigment applications on greens for winter color. Our fall/winter mowing heights are in place. Occasional mowing/rolling will occur when weather allows. Please join myself in a huge thank you to our maintenance team. All years are different, but what a challenge this one has been. They have done an outstanding job this growing season!
